Nerchukovadam (Learning) :

I spent many many years trying to learn about my gods .
Finally , I attained full learning .

Happy with my attaining full learning
My gods gave me many powers

I was given these powers so I may use them to lead a better life here in this world

Using those powers , I moved far away from society here in this world
I created a beautiful house in the midst of woods
I took my family with me to live there

I could create any food I wanted in an instant my powers
I could create any product I needed in an instant with my powers
I could create lighting and any necessity I wanted with my powers
I could transport myself and my family from one place to another with just the power of my thought

My powers made me free
I did not need money anymore
I did not need work and salary anymore
I did not need government and nation and society anymore
I was free from everything that had bound me
I only needed my gods and my family ultimately , I was happy

When I was young and ignorant
A lot of things in this world seemed important to me
I felt society was important
I felt nation and government and development were important
I felt money and economy were important
I felt inventions and progress and the coming of an ideal society were important
But I was wrong

Learning taught me that these things were all really worthless
They seemed important only because I was in a lower state of being They lost all their importance and value once I reached a higher state of being

I learnt that from the view of the gods who are the highest state almost everything we do seems worthless to them

Society is a flawed thing
It can never be ideal
And even if it was ideal and everyone in it was good and even perfect
Still it would be deeply flawed and greatly boring and suppressive of our natural instincts
It would soon fall apart
Society is therefore a flawed idea that can never be ideal or beautiful

I learnt that Family is the only ideal thing
Family is the highest truth
Family is the most beautiful thing

My gods created me
They are my parents
They are my family
And since they are my family
I don't need religion at all here
I don't need religion and religious organization with my parents
I don't need to say mantras and prayers for my parents
I don't need to sing devotional songs in their praise
I only need to think of them always with affection
That is what I need to do
I don't need to impress my parents with penances and fasting and rituals and superstitions
They don't expect that from me

They want me to be normal and with them always
They don't want me to be a sanyasi or swamiji or Yogi or rishi or muni
They only want me to be a normal and affectionate child with them always
They want me to dress normally and eat normally
They want me to live normally always
That is their wish as a parent
With them I can be free and normal and natural Something I cannot be in this undesirable society
Society binds you
Family liberates you

My parents the gods
They are the only teachers
I am just their student always Having known this
Why should I pretend to be a guru or spiritual guru or godman or messiah
Why should I set up ashrams and have followers
After all I am just a student myself
Why do I need these pretensions
I surrender to my parents
The divine teachers
The absolute teachers
I am most happy and liberated with this
Let them teach me everything
I shall learn it happily and I shall live happily with them always

Love is nothing but affection
Happiness is nothing but being with family always forever

My parents created this world for me
They are the creators of this world
They are the owners of this world
I can enjoy this world they made for me
But I cannot claim ownership over it
For it is all theirs
They created me
And I am theirs too
I cannot claim ownership over myself too
That is how it is

When I really own nothing including myself
What sense is there in dividing my gods world into nations and kingdoms
They own it

Who am I to divide it
Who am I call myself the leader or king of any of those divisions
It is all deeply flawed
Nations and states and kingdoms are all flawed entities
Entities which claim ownership over something which is not theirs
Which can never be theirs
I can enjoy this world and it's resources
But I can never claim ownership over any of it
It all belongs solely to my parents the gods

As my parents child
I have the right to travel freely wherever I want to in this world whenever I want to
But nations and kingdoms and governments and borders prevented me from doing so
They bound me with their rules and laws and false claims of ownership
Who are these false entities to bind me when my parents themselves gave me full freedom over what is theirs
These false entities try to me bind and enforce their false importance over me
I don't need them
I don't need their flawed politics and political parties and elections and claims of leadership
I don't need their governments and their institutions and their systems
All of which are worthless really

I don't need India
I don't need Hindustan
I don't need Bharat
I don't need patriotism
I don't need nationalism and nationality
I don't need sanatana dharma
I have rights over the entire world
Why bind me to a certain part of it alone
I don't need Hinduism
I don't need to be a Hindu to believe in my parents
I don't need hindutva at all
I chose to rise above all these worthless things and names that I don't need
What I need is family
That is enough for me
For that is the ultimate reality
That is alone worth having forever

When I have given up these three things - society and religion and nation
I have also given up their morals and culture and tradition and festivals and way of life and dharma
My parents themselves don't care for any of these things
Why should I
I care for family alone
And these things are not needed in family
I need not celebrate festivals for my parents
I need not follow tradition and culture and morals and dharma and some certain way of life with my parents
As said before they expect me to be free and normal and natural with them
That is how I shall be

If they expect me to be free and normal and natural
That doesn't mean I can do whatever wrong I wish to do
They expect me to be proper like any parent would They expect me to dress properly
They expect me to be clean and we'll groomed and take care of my health and be fit and healthy always
And that means I shouldnt engage in any activities that will harm me like drinking or smoking of drugs
I shouldn't engage in any activities that will harm others too like violence and war and crime and cheating
They expect me to take only what I need from the endless resources they gave me rather than me consuming it all greedily myself

As my parents they expect me to be proper in so many ways as any parent would
And I will be as they want me to be Because I am their creation after all
They are my creators my gods
They are the greatest people
The perfect and flawless people
The knowers of everything
The doers of everything
They are it all
Who am I to doubt them
I am nothing without them

In a temple I saw an empty chamber
It was an empty chamber to others
But to me it was a chamber filled with my parents divine energy
Their divine energy created this world

Their divine energy runs this world
Their divine energy runs everything including myself
Their divine energy is limitless , infinite , omnipresent , transparent , invisible
My body has no mind or soul
But it is fully filled with their divine energy
Which is what runs my body
What is what made me and runs me
Their energy makes me think and feel and sense and act
They give me thoughts that seemingly come out of nowhere
These thoughts influence me and make me do everything that I do
Their energy created the world in an instant
Their energy can destroy the world in an instant
They can do it all with just the power of their thought

They don't need physical weapons to destroy evil
They don't need to take avatars and come to this world to destroy evil
If they think it then it's done in a moment
That is how they are
There is no defeat for them
They are everything
They are the absolute
And in that seemingly empty chamber
I pay my respects to their energy which runs me and everything else

Learning begins with rejection
To start learning one must first reject everything one believes in One must make ones thoughts free and flexible again
Only then learning can begin

I rejected everything including myself
It started my learning
In a temple I saw a statue of a naked man
In that statue I saw a person who rid himself of everything and made himself ready to learn
It was a statue of a man ready to learn
I then saw a statue of a man in robes who seemed to be meditating
But He was not meditating
He was contemplating
He was learning within
He was working out all possible combinations within and trying to attain real knowledge
He was learning
It was a statue of a man in learning
Others called it a jaina statue and Buddha statue respectively but this is what I saw

My gods created books
They created movies
They created music
They created internet
They created it all for me so I may learn
But if I don't learn then all their creations have failed
All their attempts to educate me have failed
And I shall not let their efforts go in vain
I will learn what they are trying to teach me
I will become what they are trying to make me into
This is what I decided to do
It is what I did
I achieved full learning
I did not let them down

Time is a measurement we created to measure our existence
Time is not a physical thing
Time is not a real thing
The gods are eternal
They were always there and will always be there
They have no beginning , no end
So they have no need for time
They are forever

To live happily with family forever
That is the purpose of life
That is the meaning of life
It is a most beautiful purpose
It might not be the profound purpose which we here expect
But it is simple and most beautiful
It is the highest achievement there is
To live happily with family forever

My parents expect me to be with them happily always and think of them affectionately always They expect me to play with them like children would They expect me to be funny with them like children would They certainly don't expect me to meditate about them or perform yoga to attain them
Nobody meditates or does yoga for their parents
These abnormal things are not needed
Speak with your parents normally
They would like it
Move with them normally always
They want nothing better
So my parents want the same too
There is no need for bliss or transcendence or nirvana or supreme consciousness here
Simple beautiful feelings are enough

Family is enough
Affection is enough
Happiness got with family is enough
That is the highest truth

When I see statues and paintings of my gods
I do not see art there
I see beautiful representations of my parents
I can't see them directly here in this world
So I see them this way through their beautiful representations
Which are like photographs to me
Like Personal cherished memories
They are most important to me forever

My learning journey began with the Bhagavad gita
A library with a billion books is not needed to attain knowledge
A single great book with all essential knowledge told in a simple manner
That is enough to attain knowledge
Quality is important over quantity when it comes to learning

When I see a lingam statue
I see it as a representation of nature which is another aspect of my parents like their supreme divine energy
A lingam comes in many shapes and sizes just like nature exhibits so many variations
A lingam represents nature
A stala vriksham represents nature

Dwajasthambham , Bali peedam , meru symbol , saligramam stones , rudraksha mala , divine weapons , divine symbols , vimanam and gopuram are all symbolic representations of nature and it's extraordinary variety
The gods are never represented in aniconic or abstract forms
Only their various aspects are represented in aniconic and abstract forms
Divine energy is represented by an empty chamber
Nature is represented in all the above forms
Animals are also respected through statues of animals and statues of gods with animal heads Animals are also another aspect of my gods like nature and divine energy .

Our statues and paintings are full of symbolism
They must not be taken literally
A statue of a god holding a trident signifies a god holding nature and it's entire power in their hand
A statue of a god destroying a demon signifies a god destroying ignorance and evil with their divine power
It is full of symbolism and must not be taken literally
The two great epics never really happened
Because the gods don't have to come to this world to destroy evil
They can do it in an instant from wherever they are
They don't have to come here and struggle and use weapons to destroy evil
Just a thought and it's all over
That is their supreme power

My gods don't believe in being Kings and queens and emperors and empresses and rulers and leaders
They don't like such things
They don't expect us to be their followers and devotees either
They don't like that too
They don't expect devotion and respect
They expect affection and care from us
They like being parents
They want us to be proper children
That is all they ask for
They tolerate our endless stupidities and ignorant activities and mistakes
They tolerate our endless confusions and doubts and imabalance
The best we can do for them is to learn and be proper children
That is what we must do

A world without money , cities ,congestion , governments , salaries ,bills , business , capitalism , democracy , politics , dictatorship , communism , socialism , civilisation , development , wars , weapons , endless procedures - such a world is a much more beautiful world .
But such a world is impossible
Even if it were to happen
Society would still be suffocating and unbearable
Society is an unlivable place
I used to live in it and bear with it solely because i had no higher choice
Just because I had to live in it does not mean it was perfect or great Society and it's endless barriers gave me no other choice but to live in it and face it even though it was a most mediocre place

But learning ultimately liberated me and freed me from the horror that society is

My gods speak only one language
And that language is Telugu
They speak a most pure and beautiful form of it than that which we speak here
It is the most beautiful language
The divine language
The language of the gods
They don't speak in multiple languages
Just one - Telugu .

My parents live in a place called Home
We here call it Heaven
For them it's just Home or Illu
It is a the purest and most beautiful place

In Home the gods and their innumerable good children live
They all live together as a family
In Home there is no work no salary no money no nation no religion no stress
There is only family and happiness forever
The world I live in now is only my temporary home
Where my parents live is my real home
My permanent eternal home

My parents created innumerable bad people here in this world and put me here to test me
They want to see if I can stand up to it all successfully and still attain my learning
And I did it
I passed the test they put me in

I freed myself of all the shackles society put onto me
I chose to not think of the bad people here anymore
For they are just passing illusions to me in this divine test
I only hope that other good people here also come out of all the illusions we have drowned ourselves into here because of our prolonged ignorance
Our ignorance will empower bad people and make them hurt us more
Our learning will free us from them and make them immaterial to us
Is what I learnt
By ignoring the bad people and by moving far away from them I feel free and happy
By becoming immune to all their harm I have become free and normal again

The anger and hatred I had towards them is gone
I no longer feel the need to defeat or destroy them
I just don't care about them anymore
They are all worthless and immaterial to me
They are just passing illusions in this divine test
They will perish one day and cease to exist
Whereas I will go to my parents and will live forever with them happily
That is what I care about
All the horrors in this world have ceased to affect me anymore
I have risen above it all
Mediocrity remains the same always
But I chose to rise above it and ignore it once and for all
I removed within myself all the endless confusions and doubts and lies society presented to me and tried to brainwash me with I moved away from society's endless attempts to make me some kind of an addict and a slave

I rejected all the false histories and false knowledge society presented to me as truths and facts
I refused to recognise false idols as heroes
I refused to succumb to society's heirarchy
I came out of the depths of darkness my ignorance plunged me into
And I was liberated

The things I care about any longer are :

1. My family, which includes my parents , the gods .
2. Home where my gods live , my real home .
3. My house and belongings here in this world , my temporary home , with all basic comforts and necessities fulfilled .
4. Nature .
5. Temples .
6. Statues and paintings of my gods , their beautiful representations .
7. Learning and the obtaining of all essential knowledge .
8. Good food
9. Affection , Happiness , Togetherness , Good feelings , good sensations , good thoughts , good actions .
10. proper living and good health .

11. Travel as a way of experiencing and learning.

These are all the things I really care about anymore , they are the only essential things I see.

In Home where the gods live
Everyone is always young and healthy
There is no aging and old age and illness there
Nature is pure and pristine there
There are no babies and children and aged people in Home
Only fully learned and happy adults
There is best food always
One can travel from point to point in a moment with just ones thought

There is is cleanliness everywhere always Everybody is free and normal and natural and proper too
Statues and paintings of the gods also exist despite them being in their physical form there
Their representations are always cared with utmost affection
Bad feelings and bad thoughts and bad actions and bad sensations are totally absent
Only good and beauty is always there forever
One has everything one needs and everything is beautiful and of the highest quality
This is how Home is
It is a simple but most beautiful and profound place

This age we live in here in this world
It is the only age there ever was
It is the only age there ever will be
There was no age before this
There will be no age after this
The gods won't create the same society and see us doing the same mistakes and stupid things over and over again
They don't find it amusing or entertaining
They find it very boring and silly infact
So this is the only age
The only test
And we must pass it with success
By we , I mean only the few good people here
The rest are worthless , they are lost , they will never make it
They are just passing illusions
So don't try to reform them
They never will change for good

Don't see equality with them
Us and them are not equal
We have a good nature and that sets us apart from them
Don't seek brotherhood with them
They are not us , we can never be like them
It is just like in the Mahabharata story
Only a few good people make it in the end
The rest perish
That is how it is
As Krishna says ,
Don't feel for the perished
They are not worthy of our feeling
They are just passing illusions

The aim is to learn and live happily with family
So there is no need for philosophy here
Don't philosophize , just live

Focus on living , don't become drowned in a never ending pool of confusion and vagueness that comes with philosophizing
You will never attain clarity that way
Living well is the aim and focus
Learning is the path to achieving that
So do that
Don't philosophize , just live .

If my parents wanted to tell me something
They would tell it to me straight
Because that is the easiest way to put it clearly to me
They wouldn't tell it to me through stories
They have no interest in fiction
They believe in making their point through simple and straight words
So fiction is not needed here
It is not important for life

When one engages in fiction one gets caught up in the drama and misses the whole point of it in the end
Those who read the two great epics of India get lost in the drama and miss the point completely
Which is why fiction is not needed
It is a distraction to learning
Be it stories or plays or movies
Fiction is entertaining but distracting
Acting is entertaining but unnecessary
These things are not important at all
They are not needed for life
Being normal and natural and lively is necessary
Focusing on life and living is necessary

The Gods certainly have the purest and most beautiful form
And the purest and most beautiful form in all of existence is the female form
Therefore the Gods are female
That is my understanding
They are all divine mothers
Call them Amma or ammavaru
They are my creators
They are my parents
And they can take on a beautiful male form too
They are Krishna , they are rama , they are Shiva , they are Vishnu , they are Brahma
They are the highest people
The greatest people
The most wonderful people
They are affectionate and caring and lively and bright and perfect in every way possible , that is how my mothers are

I saw an arthanaari statue in so many temples
In that statue I saw a god who could be both male and female
Who could have a most perfect female form
And could also have a wonderful male form
That is what I saw in that statue
Gods taking on both forms is nothing new
We have already read it in our stories

The divine mothers took on these perfect male forms like Krishna and rama and Vishnu and Shiva
The reason for doing so was to exhibit to me and those like me on how a perfect male should be
On what the various aspects of a perfect male are

They are demonstrating to me all the qualities and nature of a perfect and proper male
And I learnt what they were teaching me by setting an example themselves
I learnt that the qualities of a perfect male are the same as those of the divine mothers
The form may change but the qualities won't
A perfect male is also affectionate and caring and lively and bright and perfect in every way
The form can be masculine or feminine
But the qualities remain the same
Courage , firmness , strength , willpower , cleanliness , honesty , truthfulness - all these are common to both the forms
Forms may change but the inner nature won't
That is the simple truth

The world I live in here is an illusory place
Nothing is definite in it
It is like bad people
A passing illusion
To get through it successfully and reach
Home
That is the aim
Home is the eternal place
It was always there , always will be there
No beginning , no end
It is the forever place

I haven't said everything I learnt in this work
Only a decent portion has been said
There are many things that cannot be said
It is up to to one to learn those things by oneself on order to understand them fully

I could say those things but one will fail to understand them or grasp the point I am trying to make
So some things have been held back
But the basic outline of my learning has been given here
Many of the main points of my learning have also been given here .

A list of all the things I rejected in the course of my learning :
Society , Nation , Nations , boundaries , borders , government , politics , political parties , elections , democracy , communism , socialism , capitalism , armies , wars , weapons , money , economy , economics , business ,commerce , development , civilisation , morality , religion , India , Hindu , Hinduism , hindutva , sanatanam , Dharma , Islam , Christianity , atheism , Judaism , Jainism , Buddhism , Confucianism , Shinto , rituals , superstitions , swamijis , gurus , ashrams , spirituality , godmen , ascetics , munis , rishis , culture , tradition , way of life , philosophy , world history , literature , technology , advancement , salary , jobs , bills , taxes , laws , courts , governmental institutions , intragovernmental organisations , drinking , alcohol , tobacco , drugs , pubs , bars , discos , gambling , casinos , nightclubs , raves , dating , friends with benefits , friendships , competitions , commercial sports , stadiums , movies , music , dance , artificial intelligence , internet , smartphones , crypto currency , currency , debts , loans , emi's , banks , financial institutions , archaeology , anthropology , scientific knowledge , science , charity , social service , philanthropy , billionaires , wealth , corporations , corporate , greed , caste , caste reservations , oratory , rhetoric , acting , fiction , performances , theatre , cemeteries , burial , cities , malls , skyscrapers , pollution , congestion , profit , revenue , inflation , space travel , astrology , astronomy , rules , regulations , crime , violence , bad , evil , transcendence , bliss , nirvana , supreme consciousness , pornography , prostitution , casual relationships , community , clubs , news , newspapers , journalism , rivalry , tv's , computers , stock market , bonds , equity , mutual funds , Kings , kingdoms , dictators , dictatorships , leaders, rulers , followers , meditation , yoga , hell , soul , mind , reincarnation , fraternity , brotherhood , secular , sovereign , republic , national flag , national anthem , patriotism , mosques , churches , Zoroastrianism , fire temples , agnostics , intelligence agencies , spies , awards , prizes , fashion shows , fashion , vegetarianism , fasting , festivals , marriage halls , luxury , convention centres , 5 star hotels , brands , conglomerates , coats , suits , sherwanis , lehengas , long kurtas for men , bikinis , yachts , excess , wasting , dirtiness , beards , moustaches , long nails , tattoos , plastic surgery , cosmetics , makeup , weird hairstyles , chandeliers , celibacy , swimming pools , bathtubs , wooden houses , basements , attics , jewellery .

Since I rose above all these things , I have no need for them anymore .

But those good people who haven't attained full learning yet , they will be forced to engage in many of these things now and then .
Engage in them knowing you have no other better choice for the time being .
But do not become deeply attached to them
Do not accept them as important or necessary
They really aren't important or necessary .
You are just bound to engage in them with no other choice
You are similar to a prisoner in this society
You can't escape
You can't accept it fully
You are just caught in it
Accept your position
Engage with these things knowing they are just temporary and fleeting

When you have attained full learning you will be free from all of them forever again
Or when your period in this world is over then you go back to Home and you stay away from all these things forever
That is how it will be
These things are all temporary
So don't be attracted to them , don't be scared by them , just engage and move on .

Do not concern yourself with Dharma , it is a fluid and vague idea .
Act as our parents might expect us to .
Understand our parents
Learn more about them
Then the right course of action in any situation will become clear to you then
The right way of thinking and feeling will also become clear to you then .

The other good people like me here
They are all born Hindu
They are all born in India
They have genuine feeling for the Gods
Some of them have an innate interest in learning
They will be in different stages of ignorance or learning

While you are here
Learn , eat well , be healthy , take care of your family here , take care of home and belongings , take care of the gods statues and paintings , care for nature , travel and gain new experiences , be alert , beware of bad people , be focussed in your learning and living , try to maintain good feelings and good thoughts always , engage in good and proper action always , think of our gods always , show them affection and care too .

My parents do not like the idea of vegetarianism or celibacy
Non vegetarianism and sexual desire are both wired within us
They are essential to us like water and air and food
Denying these things to ourselves will only make us feel bad and progressively worse
To engage in these things and to satisfy these essential needs is best always

My parents also don't want me to wear saffron to show my belief in them
They expect me to dress normal and dress well and beautifully always
And that is what I shall do

There is nothing more to say , for now.
